DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. Figures 1a-1d should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.121(d)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

2. New corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in this application because various figures (such as figure 3d) are too small to read the reference numerals and understand critical features. Applicant is advised to employ the services of a competent patent draftsman outside the Office, as the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office no longer prepares new drawings. The corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The requirement for corrected drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

3. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: It appears that the following changes are required:

Page 1, line 6: Insert --10/762,115-- after "Application No."

Page 7, line 1: Change "10" to --1--

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 4 requires the finger end of the palm piece to be moved upward to the front index finger portion and a cutting line of the finger piece to be moved inward so that the lengths of the finger portions are shortened.

How is the finger end of the palm piece to be moved upward if the palm piece is an integral piece of material? Is more material being added to the palm piece?

How does the cutting line of the finger piece move inward?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ruddell (U.S. 1,427,419).

Ruddell discloses a five-fingered, comprising:

a palm piece having a front index finger portion, a rear index finger portion, a finger end and a thumbhole, wherein the front and rear index finger portions are integrally formed; a backhand piece (Figure 3), having a rear middle finger portion, a rear third finger portion and a rear little finger portion which are integrally formed, coupled to the rear index finger portion of the palm piece; a finger piece, having a front middle finger portion, a front third finger portion and a front little finger portion which are integrally formed, coupled to the finger end of the palm piece, wherein the front and rear index finger portions are together configured to receive an index finger, wherein the front and rear middle finger portions are together configured to receive a middle finger, wherein the front and rear third finger portions are together configured to receive a third finger, and wherein the front and rear little finger portions are together configured to receive a little finger; and a thumb piece coupled to the thumbhole of the palm piece and configured to receive a thumb.

Art Unit: 3765

With regard to claims 2 and 6, wherein a first stitch line F is formed between the rear index finger portion and the rear middle finger portion, wherein a second stitch line G is formed between the rear middle finger portion and the rear third finger portion, wherein a third stitch line H is formed between the rear third finger portion and the little finger portion, and wherein at least one of the first, second and third stitch lines is shorter than the other ones).

With regard to claim 3, wherein the rear index finger portion and the rear middle finger portion include a stitch end at a side surface thereof, respectively, and wherein the rear index finger portion of the palm piece is sewn with the rear middle finger portion of the backhand piece via the respective stitch end.

With regard to claim 4, as best understood, the finger end of the palm piece is positioned upward to the front index finger portion with a cutting line of the finger piece moved inward so as to make the length of the finger portions shortened (see above Figure).

With regard to claim 5, the palm piece and the backhand piece form an integrated sheet.

With regard to claims 7 and 8, the invention is disclosed in one or more of the above rejected claims.

Conclusion
